Words From Chief Parliamentary Draftsman

This is the official publication of the translated names of the Principal Legislations issued by the Office of the Attorney General. Translation of the names of the Principal Legislations emanates from the fact that the laws which their names were in English Language have been translated into Kiswahili whereas, those which were in Kiswahili have been translated into English accordingly. The laws in a statute book are identified by their names, Chapter and Act numbers. This publication therefore encompasses official translation of the names of the laws categorically in their full reference to the name of the law, its Chapter and Act number accordingly.

On the technical point of view, translation of names of the laws has been done with skill and care by ensuring that the translated name resemble to what is entailed within the specific law. This is to ensure that the translated name is not misleading basically on the material context for which the law was enacted.

The translation of the names of the laws will not affect any form of citation of the law rather it will serve only translation purposes. The name of the law, its Chapter and Act number shall remain in a form as it was assigned when the same came into operation.

Therefore, the details regarding the law as stated, are only translated with reflection to the details as per the language to which the law was enacted. It is therefore our wishes that the majority of users of the laws will be capable of finding the laws by the names and details which they have been translated.
